

Be loving and nonjudgmental.

In your efforts to minister, be careful not to do for them what they could do for themselves or take away opportunities to become more self-reliant.

Give money isn't the answer to every financial problem. Often time, love, or other acts of service are more meaningful solutions.

The Lord will bless us for sacrificing to bless others, but we are counseled not to do more than we are able to do.

MINISTERING TO THOSE WITH FINANCIAL CHALLENGES

Serve without expectations of gratitude.

Be sensitive, and don't cross boundaries you shouldn't.
